And just what does Education mean to us? It means a more knowledgeable and safe District, Chapter, and Member. We rode our bikes Sunday and it was a bit chilly. So while it’s still a little cool outside, let’s take advantage of the training available to us.

As you may know, we have been pushing for training in Colorado for quite some time. While we have a lot of members who are very familiar with GWRRA operations, a lot of their knowledge is, shall we say, a bit dated. That is why we feel it so important that we all receive the most recent information and ideas about our organization.

There have been many First Aid/CPR Courses, as well as other Rider Ed Courses, held recently. We also want to remind everyone of the Leadership Training to be held March 23rd. It will be held at the Clements Community Center at 16th and Yarrow, Lakewood, Colorado (the location of Chapter L’s meetings).

The following was printed in Wing World recently, and we think it bears repeating at the District Level. It may answer questions you have about the Leadership Training available and why it’s valuable for everyone.

“Gold Wing UNIVERSITY” – What It Is and How It Works
By Paul Brosher, Director of Leadership Training

Now that most everyone has heard about the GW University, you might ask questions like: What is it? What does it include: and what might I gain from attending the seminars? The quick answers for the last question are: You can obtain a better understanding of how to have fun within the organization, a better understanding of yourself, and training in safe and proper riding techniques. Now, on to answers for the other two questions...

The University includes training seminars from all three programs – Membership Enhancement, Leadership Training and Rider Education – but we’ll start with the Leadership Training Program and give you all the types of seminars that are available to you in it.

Chapter Life
The basics of these seminars are to give the Member the information needed to have FUN in the Chapter environment. The Chapter is the life of GWRRA, so this is a must for everyone. The structure of the Chapter will be explained, along with how to plan a successful Chapter event and how to have FUN doing it. Along with planning the event, you’ll be able to make eye-catching flyers for it and maybe catch a few new Members along the way. For those of you who love to show off your pride and joy, there’s also a seminar that will give you all the detail to capture that First Place Bike Show award – or maybe even that coveted “People’s Choice” award.

Life Skills
This section of seminars gives Members some of the skills they’d be able to use in Chapter Life or in their everyday lives. If you need to figure how to manage your time better or ways to relieve some stress in your life, you’ll want to sit in on some of these seminars. Are you one who doesn’t remember names or is afraid to get up in front of a crowd and talk? There are lessons to be learned in this skill set. And since the world is always changing, there are lessons on how to manage that... change and keep your self-esteem while balancing the time you have in life.

Member Orientation

The Seminars in this section pertain to the newer Member, with information to help him or her better understand the organization. Are you new to the organization? If so, you’ll definitely enjoy learning the history of GWRRA and its structure. You’ll also discover all the benefits GWRRA has to offer and learn the best ways to participate and to have FUN doing it.

Chapter Leadership Skills

Designed specifically for the Chapter Core Team, the seminars in this skill set are those that will greatly enhance your knowledge on the proper ways to achieve a first-class Chapter. You’ll learn about how GWRRA is structured, finances needed and how to produce a great newsletter. You’ll also learn the proper way to delegate to others, plus how to interview for choosing a Chapter Team.

Intermediate and Advanced Leadership Skills

These seminars are for the GWRRA Officer who wants to learn more about his or her leadership role in the organization. In this skill set, you’ll become aware of the proper ways to build high-performance teams and how to motivate that team, plus ways to release someone in the case that he or she doesn’t work out for the betterment of the Chapter. You’ll learn to solve some problems that might tend to rise from time to time, and you’ll also be made aware of your reporting responsibilities to the IRS and how to raise funds to operate on.

So this is just a sample of the things you can learn by participating in some of the seminars. We hope you will take advantage of GWRRA’s University Training. There “IS” something there for everyone.

2013 District Convention

By Mike Ackerman, District Treasurer

We are starting to get more registrations for the 2013 Colorado District Convention. I guess that means the warmer weather is just around the corner and folks are starting to think about the great riding we have in Colorado.

We currently have 87 participants registered for the Convention, and of those, 68 are also signed up for the fantastic BBQ dinner on Friday night.

If you have not already done so, please consider sending in your registration for the Convention, and don’t forget the BBQ dinner, 50/50 tickets and those always fantastic T-Shirts. This year, we are once again offering Sweat Shirts! You know one of the great Convention Sweat Shirts will feel great on those cool mountain nights in Granby.
We published this article in Chapter J’s newsletter, and we feel that the information is important enough to share again with everyone. In case you didn’t see his editorial in the January 2013 issue of Wing World, GWRRA’s International Director, Jere Goodman, recently wrote about the different—and, yes, often uncomfortable—ways in which people handle conflict. Anyone who has been involved in GWRRA leadership probably related quite well—as we did—to Jere’s article. We thought we’d share some excerpts from the article this month. If you didn’t see the original, get out your January 2013 issue and have a look—it’s well worth reading! Jere writes:

“Disagreements are inevitable—they surface in all parts of our lives and, at times, can test our patience and our ability to deal with emotional situations calmly and courteously. But for some, there’s a difference in how they approach emotional situations depending on whether they’re a paid employee or a volunteer.

“... I believe that one would not write or say things that are unprofessional and discourteous at a job (where such comments could be detrimental to one’s livelihood). Not that one needs to ‘sugarcoat’ his or her concerns, but there are ways that are professional and courteous to voice feedback and there are ways that are not.”

Okay, we’re sad to say that we have observed this same type of behavior in some situations. That said, we thought perhaps it might give additional insights to others to read portions of this article again—or, perhaps, for the first time. Jere goes on to write:

“...it seems that, for some, just being a member of GWRRA gives them the perception that it’s suddenly appropriate to communicate in a confrontational manner; they have the right to come on too strong with those who are only trying to help them.

“But such a confrontational stance is not a good approach to get someone else to consider one’s point of view or to attempt to resolve a problem in a timely manner! Positive ways in which we can deal with our concerns in a professional manner include these: Take time to seek out the facts; don’t react to initial perceptions; and promote early professionalism.

“I chose this topic because I believe that if we want to continue to build our organization as a team and accomplish the things you’ve asked for, then we all need to work together with courtesy and professionalism.

“We’re all here to have fun, to enjoy our sport of motorcycling, to meet and build new friendships and to add to our GWRRA family. After all, I have yet to meet anyone who joined for the sole purpose of getting aggravated, being upset and spending their time involved in a conflict of personalities. That only takes away from the very essence of our organization—Friends for Fun, Safety and Knowledge!”
When we took the Horizons Leadership Training course a year ago, there was information about four aspects of group dynamics: forming, storming, norming and performing. The Colorado District has been doing a fabulous job of “performing”, and with everyone’s cooperation and willingness to work productively and positively together, we can all continue, as Jere wrote—“to have fun, to enjoy our sport of motorcycling, to meet and build new friendships and to add to our GWRRA family.”

And, Jere, we couldn’t have said it better—we look forward to your steady hand on the tiller of GWRRA. Thank you for all you do!

Motorist Awareness Program
By Alan Gustafson, District Educator

It seems that there is a lot of interest in the new Motorist Awareness Program and how it affects the Rider Education Levels Program. After reviewing the seminar material and attending a Motorist Awareness Seminar, it will be a valuable contribution for all our members who decide to participate.

This is some clarification on the new requirement from Tony and Michelle Van Schaick, our International Rider Education Directors.

The consensus after several meetings was that Motorist Awareness should be required to attain Level III. At that time, it was also collectively determined that GWRRA Rider Ed would use University Trainers certified to teach Rider Ed seminars to present all Motorist Awareness Seminars. (Prior to that there was no such requirement.)

The Motorist Awareness Seminar requirement would not go into effect until 1-1-13. The Insight newsletter (electronic newsletter which serves as the monthly newsletter vehicle for the National Staff to communicate to GWRRA Membership) was written on this topic in early December last year, and is available to everyone in GWRRA; an email blast occurs monthly letting Members know it is available to read.

It laid out the same plans to everyone in GWRRA. On 12/31/12 we posted the new N.7 and N.9 forms so they could be used for the new requirement starting on January 1st as scheduled. Even though the new edition (11) to the Rider Education Program Handbook release was delayed to receive the MEDIC First Aid input and allow more time for all the Region Educators to review the new Edition, the change adding the Motorist Awareness Seminar to Level III was agreed upon and published well before the 1/1/13 date.

Part of the change management process was to give the Regions some heads up about what the change would mean at the Chapter level so they could start gearing up to have Seminar Presenters (University Trainers after 9/1/12) begin teaching Motorist Awareness seminars to support the transition.

Completing the MA Seminar any time this year will not affect when the Member can apply for Senior Master, since everyone who becomes a Master Tour Rider or Co-Rider this year is eligible on 1-1-13 as far as the published Masters Recognition Program Eligibility List is concerned. The only delay will be when the patch(es) is(are) received. That is controlled only by the length of time the Member takes to complete the MA Seminar. The length of these seminars is less than an hour, so there is no significant time investment. There are a number of old Rider Ed Seminar Presenters (now GWU Trainers certified in Rider Ed) available, so all it will take is to make arrangements to get the Seminar.

FYI - (New section added: C.3.9 Motorist Awareness Seminar 1-1-13 Impact on Masters Recognition Program) REP Handbook page C-12

Master Tour Riders who wish to apply for a Masters Recognition program award after 1-1-13 will need to attend a Motorist Awareness Seminar to be current in all course requirements. The N.9 form contains a blank to record completion of the MA course (which has no expiration date) as well as the expiration dates for the other courses necessary to remain current for the Master’s Recognition award. Those who attend the MA Seminar in 2013 to meet the new requirement will not be penalized for any time delay that the seminar was not taken.

If there are any questions concerning this, please contact your Chapter Educator, District Educator, or Kraig and Linda White, our District Motorist
Awareness Directors, and we will try to get the answers for you. I strongly encourage those of you who have not attended a Motorist Awareness Seminar to please do so. Even though only one seminar is required to meet the qualification, it would be extremely beneficial to attend all portions of the program.

Remember the rider education motto:

Safety is for life!

Leadership Training Program
By Garry Howland, District Trainer

Fundamentally, our entire organization is based on the identifying, developing, presenting, feedback and continually updating our training programs to meet the needs of our membership. With that in mind and new leadership at the helm, you, the membership, have recently seen a stream of emails, newsletter articles and Chapter gathering presentations on new training program updates.

The philosophy of our training program hasn’t become obsolete; it is a living process that continually changes to meet the needs of our membership. In today’s busy society, GWRRA, like everyone else, is looking for ways to streamline and make the best and most efficient training program possible. We have reasserted that while our training is optional to our membership there are reasons that we support the necessity of taking training. It runs the full gambit of meeting our membership’s safety needs to providing the knowledge base our Officer Corps requires to fulfill their jobs in support of our membership.

Last November’s Wing World’s article about GWRRA’s new University Training (UT) showed a great leap forward in our training program. We realized that having two Instructor Training Programs, one for leadership and one for Rider Education, was based on the same fundamental instructor requirements. We realized that a single instructor class could present the necessary skill sets needed for both training programs and then could be augmented to add the additional program certifications as needed. This allows more members to be certified and give them the latitude to progress in the direction their interests take them.

Training has grown with the addition of online computer classes such as the Officer Certification Program (OCP). Other areas were identified for presentation by University Trainers, such as Motorcycle Awareness. This will provide a consistent quality program where everyone hears and gets the same information.

This year is filled with many opportunities for training. First, identify what training you are interested in. A list of Rider Ed seminars can be seen in Wing World magazine (April 2013, page 62). You can receive an LTP training card from me which list all the LTP seminars except OCP and Horizon. Training programs can also be found at the GWRRA’s home web page. Other resources are Wing World magazine, the e-Newsletter from GWRRA, the Insight newsletter, and the newsletters that come out monthly from your Chapter, District and Region. When all else fails, you can contact either the District Trainer or Rider Educator.

The following are some of the upcoming programs being presented this year:
- March 23, 2013: Chapter Leadership Skills program presentation at Clements Community Center (CO-L meeting location) 1580 Yarrow St Lakewood, CO 80214. All day class from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m.
- Region F Convention May 24-26: Please see Region F web page for programs but some of them are Medic First Aid, ARC & TRC courses, Seminar Presenter course, Horizon, and I am working on presenting an OCP class.
- Wing Ding July 3-6: Many courses to choose from such as ARC, ERC, Medic First Aid, Sidecar, trailering, and trike.
- District Convention August 15-17: The courses are in the works, but you can expect to see Medic First Aid, more Rider Safety programs, and several LTP modules presented.
- We are working on presenting another all day LTP class for this fall (date to be announced): Horizon program.

As a side note, if you are looking for a Wing World magazine article, you can get it on line at the following link with just your six digit membership number and password consisting of the first numeric numbers of your address and your membership expiration date (MM/YY).

Convention Games
By Donald Redline, Special Events Assistant

Hi, it’s me again your “ILLUSTRIOUS Special Events Assistant.”

Well, I don’t have too much for this month. Gilda McCorkle has come up with a game for District Convention that involves District Officers’ baby pictures to see if you can guess who they are.

I wasn’t sure I could find one but, surprise, I did. So, everybody start looking.

I’m not sure how the game is going to be run, but if they’re going for cuteness, you can give it up now. I think I know who’s going to win. (Grin.)
